Library Cataloguing Information

The details above, such as Date of Birth, are required when supplying information to the national bibliographic database. The Library often needs to distinguish between two or more authors of similar name. Where possible please provide the following additional information. The supervisor's name is useful to other PhD candidates researching potential thesis topics.

Candidate / Authors Other Publications:

Please attach a list any other commercially published works, providing the title of publication, publisher, and the date of publication.

The Candidate warrants that the Thesis:

1. has not been published before
2. does not contain any subject matter that contravenes any laws (including defamatory material and misleading and deceptive material)
3. meets ethical standards applicable to the research discipline
4. which will be submitted at the end of the examination is the final version as passed under examination, with all required amendments included

The Candidate understands that Monash University may change the format of the Thesis as necessary for preservation or archival purposes.

Section 2: Thesis Embargo (Please tick the appropriate response)

- The purpose of an embargo is to comply with contractual obligations to maintain confidentiality; and/or to facilitate commercialisation where confidentiality is a precondition (eg patent applications).
- No Embargo Thesis may be made available for consultation in the library immediately.
- Full Embargo Thesis may be made available for consultation in the library 3 years after award of degree.

Candidates who are required to provide an eThesis copy for publication online in the Monash University ARROW Repository are required to complete sections 3 to 5. Other candidates proceed to Section 6.

Section 3: Online Publication Agreement for eThesis

Please note that the eThesis policy is currently under review by the Research Graduate School Committee. Pending the outcomes of this review, candidates who are currently submitting may select the option of not having their eThesis made available for publication online (See Section 5). Candidates are still required to lodge an eThesis on the ARROW Repository at the end of the examination.

Background: Subject to Embargo the Candidate / Author will provide Monash University with a non-exclusive licence to publish the Thesis under the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

Exemptions: Online publication of theses is NOT compulsory for PhD candidates who were enrolled prior to July 2005 or are enrolled in the following research degrees: PhD (Visual Arts); PhD (Creative Writing); PhD (Music Composition); PhD under a cotutelle arrangement; Staff PhD; MD (unsupervised); professional doctorates; MPhil; and research masters degrees.

Warranties: In consideration for publication of the thesis, the Author warrants that they are the author and owner of the copyright in the Thesis, that they have the full power and right to grant Monash University the right to publish the thesis.

Rights Granted: The Candidate / Author grants to Monash University a non-exclusive worldwide licence to reproduce, publish and communicate the Thesis or any part of the Thesis online using any technology, whether existing before or after the date of this Licence, for non-commercial, research purposes for the full remaining term of the copyright subsisting in the Thesis in each applicable jurisdiction. The candidate/Author grants to Monash University permission to make technical changes to the format of the Thesis as necessary for online publication and future preservation.

When exercising any of the Rights Granted under this Agreement, Monash University agrees to provide appropriate acknowledgement of the Candidate / Author as creator of the Thesis. When using the Thesis for any other purposes, the Candidate / Author agrees to acknowledge that a version of the Thesis has been published online by Monash University.

Monash will cease to provide open access to the full text version of the thesis if requested by a publisher in instances where a thesis is accepted for publication elsewhere. Monash retains the right to supply the thesis in whole or in part, under Section 51 (2) of the Copyright Act.

Section 4: Third Party copyright clearance

Where significant third party copyright material is included within the thesis, candidates are required to have obtained permission from copyright holder/s to publish this content online. Significant third party works may include published or unpublished pictures, figures, tables, and text excerpts larger than one percent of an entire text work. If some permissions remain outstanding by the time of submission of this form, you may be required to submit an updated Copyright Clearance form prior to the degree being awarded.

The Candidate confirms that:

there are no significant third party items included within the thesis (If ticked go straight to Section 5)

all reasonable efforts were made during preparation of the thesis to obtain the required permissions from the authorised copyright owner; and a listing of all significant third party items included within the thesis and their copyright status (permission granted or not) is supplied on the Copyright Clearance form accompanying this agreement.

University copyright and Intellectual policies – <http://www.copyright.monash.edu.au>

For enquiries regarding third party copyright and significant amounts or works, consult the University copyright adviser and refer to the MRGS PhD handbook and the copyright website.

Section 5: Thesis Embargo for eThesis (Please tick the appropriate response)
